EDWARD SRI
BEHOLD
THE LAMB OF GOD

THE EUCHARIST AS REAL PRESENCE

But the Eucharist still looks and tastes like bread and wine?

This change of the bread and wine into the Body and Blood of Christ is not a chemical one. All the outward, sensible appearances of bread and wine remain. The Host still looks like bread, tastes like bread, and feels like bread. And the chalice contains what to all the senses appears to be ordinary wine. The chemical structures of bread and wine remain the same. But underneath these appearances, Jesus' Body and Blood are really present in the Eucharist.

The theological term used to describe this change is transubstantiation, which expresses how, by the Consecration of the bread and wine, "there takes place a change of the whole substance of the bread into the substance of the body of Christ our Lord and of the whole substance of the wine into the substance of his blood" (CCC 1376). Put simply, the substance, the very reality of the bread and wine, is changed into the body and Blood of Christ. Even though the outward characteristic of bread and wine (the "Eucharistic species") remain the same, we encounter Jesus himself, his very Body and blood, Soul and Divinity, made present under sacramental signs, whenever we encounter the Eucharist.
