THE EUCHARIST IN THE MASS

Why is the celebration of the Eucharist called “the Mass”?

This tradition of calling the Eucharist celebration “the Mass” comes from the closing prayer of the Liturgy and makes an important point.

In the ancient world, assemblies typically closed with a formal dismissal. The early Christians incorporated a similar conclusion to their Eucharistic liturgies. From the fourth century, the Latin words Ite missa est were employed for this purpose. Literally meaning “Go, you are dismissed,” these words are rendered in the translation of the Mass as “Go forth, the Mass is ended.”

It is significant that the whole Liturgy receives its name from the Latin word missa (“dismissal” or “sending”) in its closing line. This points to how the Mass ultimately is a sending forth. As the Catechism explains, the celebration of the Eucharist is called Holy Mass (missa) “because the liturgy in which the mystery of salvation is accomplished concludes with the sending forth (mission) of the faithful, so that they may fulfill God’s will in their daily lives” (CCC 1332).

The closing prayer of the Liturgy, therefore, is not an aimless dismissal. It is a dismissal with a mission. It is a sending forth of God’s people to bring the mysteries of Christ’s passion, death, and Resurrection.

AMEN GENEROSITY
Lifegiving

As we pray with the wonderful Bread of Life discourse by Jesus this Sunday, it is easy to recognize how He is lifegiving to us, now and for all eternity. "For the bread of God is that which comes down from heaven and gives life to the world." If we do not come to Him, we will starve. As the Church who is the living Body of Christ, how can we let Jesus be lifegiving in and through us to a starving world?
